PRIX GENEVE

Most Innovative TV Fiction Script of the Year by a Newcomer

This script dives deep into a father-son relationship in the early 90's Kosovo. His masterly built, unique protagonist is a 10-year old boy, who's quest to unite with his weak parent is told through laconic and exact dialogue and well determined action. The violence that does not happen adds to the authentic, tense atmosphere in this engaging story. A boy grows up, but too fast - in times of fear.

The PRIX GENEVE goes to Visar Morina for Babai – My Father!
